

Injured on the job?

Need to know your rights?

Come to a free presentation on workers' compensation

At these free, one-hour workshops you will learn about:

- Your right to medical treatment
- Disability payments
- Returning to work after your injury
- Resolving a disagreement over your claim

The workshops consist of a presentation followed by a question and answer session. Workshops are set up for injured workers that have recently filed a workers' compensation claim with their employer, but any injured worker can benefit from attending, and anyone can attend.

Workshops are hosted by the state Division of Workers' Compensation and are held monthly at local division offices.

Call 1-800-736-7401 to find the location and time of a workshop near you.

Press 7, then 7 again, then 1 for workshop information in English

Press 2 for information in Spanish

You can also find workshop information on the Web at www.dir.ca.gov/dwc.

The Division of Workers' Compensation also does a presentation in Spanish four times a year at different locations around the state. The next Spanish-language presentation will take place:

Wednesday, September 21, 2005

6 to 7 a.m.

Employment Development Department office
301 Heber Avenue
Calexico, CA